To: Liquor Law Review <liquorlawreview@justice.nsw.gov.au>;

I am a life long term eastern suburbs and inner Sydney resident and citizen. Sydney City has always been a vibrant, eclectic city - since European settlement. We were classed as a world class city, along with London, Paris, New York. International tourists, expect a fully functioning city, with 24hr transport, and great policemen and women serving the city and keeping us safe.

Every city is potentially dangerous, lockout laws or no, high property prices or not.

NSW will become even more economically and culturally disadvantaged if these laws continue.

Violence doesn't stop, it will only relocate and create even more danger in suburbs with more women and children put at higher risk.

Please provide the transport and rescind these laws.

Sincerely,

Catherine Avgenicos

Save our city for the good of NSW.

Regards,

Catherine Avgenicos
