

Keep Sydney open

SB stephanie Bays

 Reply all |

To: Liquor Law Review;

12:00 AM

Inbox

Where do I start

I suppose I should start by saying that I understand where you were coming from when you first initiated the lock out laws but the way it's gone about now is taking it too far

It's not just about people not being able to drink after a certain time now it's about people's livelihood and place of business and the economy

So many people have lost their jobs almost 2500 people so far and that's just jobs lost the amount of clubs and business establishments that have closed down because of these lock out laws is ridiculous I understand what your idea was for these lockout laws but I don't think the boys that were the initial idea for these laws (may they rest in peace) would want any of this

Please take a page with what Melbourne is doing and fund for better violence management and bring back out night life if not for the people and the culture please for the economy