To whom it may concern,

As a 32yr old male who has been raised in Sydney and an active participant in Sydney nightlife for what has now been more than 50% of my life i feel i need yo voice my dissapoint on what Sydney has become.

The night time economy is what makes us great. We are a global city and right now a laughing stock around the world.

Friends in hospitality and who have invested their lives into the night time economy are left wondering what now?

The violence is horrible. Theres no arguing that.

But how many more lives have now been negatively affected due to these rushed and ill thought out laws.

Please reconsider. Please consider a night mayor who can impartially review and control theae laws.

I grew up partying in the cross and the city. Have never thrown a punch. Always held a great job and am an active member to society and i owe a lot of that to the friends i met between 10pm and 6am.

Do the right thing.
