Dear Sir,

My feelings on the current state of Liquor laws in Sydney and NSW are that they are aimed to suit certain individuals (very few) whilst disadvantaging many, many more.

Night life is dead, restaurants and wine bars are suffering and people who just want to to enjoy themselves are not being given this right. I feel everybody is paying the price because of a few “king hit” incidents that occurred early in the night by mindless and coward less individuals.

Bring back some fun, and let people enjoy themselves.

Sincerely,

Brendan Cato.
