To whom it may concern,

I am writing regarding the alcohol and venue restrictions that have been implemented in Sydney. I find these laws deeply concerning for a considerable number of reasons.

The destruction of an industry that not only provides a platform for young and old Australians to entertain others, but also themselves. Additionally these closures which impact the culture of young Australians, also impact the working environment, with a large portion of entertainment workers being of younger generations.

Not only is this destroying the industry, but has and will impact Australia's tourism industry, which has subsequent economic knock on affects.

Conclusively the most significant aspect of such laws, is that it limits ones ability to freely consider choices which an adult should be allowed to make.

I base my evidence of Matt Barries 'Would the last person in Sydney please turn the lights out.'
