To whom it may concern,

We are a small events business that operated at a venue within the CBD and because of the lockout laws we went from doing over ten events in 2014 to three events in 2015.

Please consider changing the current legislation as it is well and truly doing NOTHING to stop alcohol-related violence.

Just on Saturday night I decided to take a drive at midnight around the CBD and the streets were still littered with people that didn't have any respect for themselves or people around them.

That is the problem here - Respect. People that are going out at night don't know how to respect themselves and consume responsibly. If that is what the NSW government are trying to achieve - to make people that go out late at night behave more responsibly then having legislation that says 1.30am no entry and 3am no drinking is not the way to do it.

I recommend removing the 1.30am no entry rule and the 3am stop drinks. It's doing more bad than good.

Make legislation that actually co-relate's with what is happening in society and have more police on foot patrolling in the trouble areas of the city and more public transport operating during the weekend.

Kind Regards.
