To: Liquor Law Review <liquorlawreview@justice.nsw.gov.au>;

In 2015 there were 15 shark attacks on humans recorded in NSW. From October 2014 to September 2015 there were 1655 human attacks on humans in one zone of NSW alone - the CBD, Kings Cross and Newton! Since the modest measures were introduced there has been a significant decrease in assaults. Although the number of assaults are still alarming, hopefully they will be further reduced by these sensible laws. If these liquor laws are lifted, I'll be swimming with the sharks. It's much safer in the sea. Keep the laws in place!
