Sydney Lock Out Laws

To Whom It May Concern,

As someone who was born in Sydney and has had the privilege to travel to many other countries I am very proud of our city. I feel that these lock out laws have been implemented as a knee jerk reaction by our politicians to score a couple of cheap points with their voters. There has been no efforts by government put into dealing with why young Australian males feel that it is OK to attack a stranger without just cause. There are many other places in the world where these military state-like laws do not need to be implemented and I would feel much prouder of our city if we could do the same.

Kind regards,
Nathan Gallon
