I have lived in the Eastern Suburbs for many years and most of my friends remain in that area, therefore, I frequently visit them and spend time in the streets surrounding Darlinghurst and Potts Point. I now feel safe when I come into the area and when I leave which is sometimes after dark. There is a calm and civilised behaviour now that all residents and the community enjoy. The only people wanting the existing rules changed are those who care little for the environment and the cultural well-being of those who live there. These are the profit making hotels and nightclub owners who live elsewhere who don't care about these issues, only how much money they can extract from the outsiders who used to land en mass and disrupt the peace.
