

 Reply all |   Delete Junk |  ...

Lockout Laws

DM Dylan Maher

To: Liquor Law Review;

 Reply all |

Fri 1/04

Inbox

To whom it may concern,

You men/women had good intentions when you brought in the lockout laws. Your downfall was not allowing good venues pardons for good behaviour/track record.6

Many of my friends have lost part time jobs due to work and demand drying up. I have a trade so i've been luckier.

Also you haven't solved the real issue here with the lockout laws. It's the alcohol and male "im tougher than you" culture that needs changing.

Address those issues and there would be alot less fights. But that seemed too hard and lockout laws are easier so fair play.

And international standards is another. Clubs do shutdown earlier around the world however some are still allowed to operate at 100% capacity if they have good behaviour there.

There was an article in the Daily Telegraph saying everything shuts in Paris and London at 2-3am. Maybe the clubs/bars for older people do however nightclubs are still going with the younger generation.

That's my 2 cents. I agree that something had to be done however you guys fucked it right up. Like seriously a colossal fuck up. With all due respect.

Regards, Dylan

Sent from Outlook Mobile