To whom it may concern,

On the whole, the lockout laws don't bother me, then again I'm almost 40 and I don't stay out that late anymore. What has bothered me is the number of businesses that have closed due to these laws and the fact that as an adult I'm told I cannot purchase a bottle of wine after 10pm. So I have a dinner party that starts at 8, we want to have a few more drinks before people leave but we're out of wine and our hands are being smacked like children.

Every city needs its area for young people to go out and cut lose, yes, there will be fights and some crime, but that goes with being young. Please stop punishing all of us for a few people's bad decisions.
