I could write an essay on why these laws should be relaxed, but you've heard it from previous submissions. so I'm going to write only about what I want and don't want for my -3 month year old. Due July 2016:

I want my baby in 18yrs and 3mnths to be able to go out in Sydney to venues that offer a variety of different music, dancing, food and social interactions. Like its parents were able to.

I want my baby to have an opportunity to meet a partner like I met the love of my life, the baby's dad, on a night out.

I don't want my baby to leave the best daytime city in the world to pursue a nightlife city such as London, Berlin, Barcelona, New York or Melbourne.

I don't want my baby to leave me.

Please reconsider these laws.
