I am a nurse working in the area of Drug and Alcohol. I see first hand the harm alcohol does to a person, their family and relationships including children.

I am aware that there has been a reduction in alcohol related violence since these laws have been in place. Drunk people, who are injured due to alcohol related fighting need to be treated in the Hospital Emergency, Theatres and Wards. We are being verbally and physically abused by these intoxicated people. Putting other patients and relatives at risk too!

Any reduction in alcohol fuelled violence is a reduction in assaults to Health staff, patients and visitors. I have a family too. Thank you

Regards,
