Hi

I would like to express my disappointment in the new lock out laws in the Sydney CBD and surrounds. I am 42 and have never had an issue while out late at night. I have been out on the town thousands of times. I recently had some international visitors that were amazed that we have such laws in place and thought that it was strange that an international city like Sydney could have this in place. They also thought it strange that the casino was not included, as do I. I would like to be able to go out. As occasionally as I do these days without limitation on my right to choose the time I go home.

Regards
Richard Nettle
