

 Reply all |   Delete Junk |  ...

Lockout laws

Chris Ohtaras

To: Liquor Law Review;

 Reply all |

Fri 1/04

Inbox

To the people who dictate our bed time,

I've manage a hostel in Kings Cross for several years now. I greet tourists daily and welcome them to our lovely city - most times I am the first Australian they have a proper conversation with.

As you can imagine these people are incredibly excited to be here and they have 101 questions about what to do and where to go.

A few days later they'll come back to me and confide that "Sydney is beautiful but the nightlife is shit" - that is verbatim... And as common as a cider in a chavs hand.

This city's nightlife is in shambles and you are responsible. You have lost my vote in any future elections regardless of what happens in this review.

Furthermore, I finish work at 10pm and it's insulting and infuriating to legally not be allowed to by a six-pack of beer and go home and have a quite night in.

I guess I could just go to the casino though..?

Disgraced and over your shirt,
Chris Ohtaras