To whom it may concern,

I'm a resident of [REDACTED] I moved to the area 4 years ago in particular as I wanted to live in a more lively area with easy access to entertainment. In the last 2 years I've seen the death of liveliness across not just Kings Cross, but the entire City. Having lived in the city for the last 20 years, I am concerned about the economic impact this will have on the city as a whole. There are now many empty buildings in Kings Cross and it now feels less safe to walk the streets than it did prior to the lockouts being introduced. My partner works in the late night economy at a local pub, and I'm concerned about his ability to retain his job.

Ideally, I'd like to see the lockout retained but the time changed to 3am, the last drinks moved to 4.30 and the closing of the bottle shops moved to 11pm.

Yours sincerely
