Hi guys,

So I came here 5 years ago to one of the most vibrant cities in the Southern Hemisphere, since the lockdown that has completely changed the lock out has taken the heart out of Sydney, and the parties have had to go to the outer suburbs which are harder to police, and put people in danger.

I suggest the removal of the lockdown laws to give Sydney back its heart and to help Sydneysiders stay safe in the city rather than take massive risks trying to party elsewhere

Kind regards,

Laura
