

Reply all | Delete | Junk | ...

Liquor Law Review

DS

David Sattout [Redacted]

To: Liquor Law Review; [Redacted]

Reply all | [Redacted]

Fri 1/04

Inbox

Hello everyone

Verified statistics have indicated that the problem the lockout laws were purporting to address was diminishing anyway. The public knows this.

The laws themselves are one of the clearer 'baby with the bathwater' responses I've ever seen. The public holds this view.

A couple of powerful interest groups stand to gain and have already gained from these laws. Owing to the double standards created by omitting casinos and exempting gambling, the public sees this clear as day.

The laws treat every person who goes out as a suspect. Everyone who goes out feels like this. If anything, this causes bad behaviour rather than prevents it.

This state is going in the wrong direction in so many ways.

Yours faithfully,

David Sattout

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]