I visit Sydney as tourist often and am very disappointed to hear of these unfair lock out rules.

I've never seen an incident of violence, but even if there are why not address the issues causing the violence - mental health, frustration, etc - instead of punishing everyone for the acts of the very, very, very few.

This is like asking all rugby players to play at walking speed because a few players break the rules.

This is not the way forward and is under researched, underfunded and bias towards casinos with problem gamblers.

Please reconsider restricting your citizens freedoms.

Thanks
