The lockout laws were the result of a media beat up to sell papers and get clicks on news sites

Unfortunately a knee jerk reaction by the government has resulted in an absolute shut down of cbd

After many business closures the government is now reaping the benefits of selling prime real estate to greedy developments that are based on short term greed

The night time economy has been wiped out. Disastrous results for economy and tourism

We like to market Sydney as a global city 24 hr city- it's not at all

This is not about people wanting to stay out for another hour- it's about getting back the confidence that people can have a good night visiting a number of places and have a good time- no one has ever wanted to go to the city to visit one venue

Stop the nanny state- there is a real angst out there about this

The last time I went to cbd it was a joke- interrogated every venue by security just to get in after we had dinner- kings cross was a ghost town- it felt like Sydney lost part of its soul
This decision needs to be reversed-
