

Please do not relax the law in Kings Cross

Paul Tweddell [REDACTED]

Wed 30/03/2016 7:17 PM

To: Liquor Law Review <liquorlawreview@justice.nsw.gov.au>;

I have lived in and around Kings Cross since 1990. Over the years, the proliferation of booze barns ruined the neighbourhood. Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights became horrendous with our streets turned into violent vomitoriums. I have had the misfortune to need emergency treatment at St Vincent's Hospital several times and had to wait all night in a chair in the corridor while the poor staff dealt with case after case of violent injury.

Since the lockout laws the neighbourhood has settled back to the way it was when I first moved here and I don't have to step over vomit and blood each morning.

Please understand that if you relax these laws you will be enabling more violence and death.

Your sincerely

Paul Tweddell

Sent from my iPhone