The laws need to be kept in place because the police and ambulance officers are not punching bags, these are the very few that take the oth of protecting and serving the public and also protecting the members of Parliament that make and change the rules. Don't dare crap on your own for your own personal gain (politically) police and ambo's are the one's you employ to protect the majority don't be fooled by the minority. Protect the police and ambo's and they will do the same for you. Be a smart government Mr baird you know its the right thing to do.
