I have a son who is a Police Officer. I fear for his safety if these alcohol laws were to go back to how they were as he had been injured in the past by drunken individuals. When he was younger he completed an apprenticeship as a chef, in the heart of Sydney. He would be returning home after a very late night at work, and often felt threatened by drunken individuals, and witnessed many assaults.

Letting Sydney return to that kind of city would be a travesty.
